Verner Architects is a boutique architecture firm specializing in custom residential and small-scale commercial projects. Based in Oakland, California, and working across the country, we offer a complete range of services for both new construction and renovation projects, from basic conceptual ideas to detailed design. We create beautiful, livable spaces that enhance our clients' lives and the surrounding environment.

AT TOP: The indoor-outdoor living for this young family created the coastal feel they wanted, perfect for the California weather, but also increased the perceived square footage of the home. This open floor plan is not only aesthetically pleasing, but it also floods the interior with natural light, creating a feeling of spaciousness.

AT LEFT: One of our favorite spaces to transform in this house was the kitchen. Previously a dark, small, and outdated kitchen, it is now a bright and inviting space, thanks to raising the roof and a new slot skylight that bathes the area in natural light. The transformation was made possible with the expertise of the Space Theory team, from the creators of Henrybuilt. Together, we crafted an elegant and practical kitchen that perfectly suits the family's needs, creating a beautiful setting for moments that will last a lifetime.

Zack | de Vito Architecture + Construction is a multidisciplinary architecture, interior, and design-build practice inspired by modernist principles and collaboration. Our work is rooted in a lifelong interest in craft and how buildings are made. We offer an imaginative and efficient project journey through design, permitting, and construction – creating projects that bring joy to everyday life and change the perspective of how one can live – as we have for more than 25 years.

AT TOP: A seamless integration of visual, spatial, and functional architectural elements, every aspect of this estate promotes comfort indoor/outdoor living and energy efficiency. The buildings are sensitively nestled into the site’s natural rock outcroppings and native oak and manzanita trees while maximizing views from atop the western edge of Napa Valley’s Vaca Range.

AT RIGHT: The upper level office and sitting room overlook the valley and pool terrace below. The small deck was formed by pulling the volume inward, creating a protected “box” for reading or contemplation.
